South Carolina Ag Council Meeting

The fall quarterly meeting of the South Carolina Ag Council is scheduled to be held on Thursday, November 15, 2007. The topic will be the SC Department of Agriculture's Certified SC Grown Program. The speaker will be Ansley Rast, SC Department of Agriculture Marketing Specialist and Certified SC Program Coordinator.

In addition, the Ag Council is sponsoring a Holiday Fair featuring a number of vendors from across the state selling South Carolina grown/produced/processed products. Come early and stay late to buy some really neat things for Christmas gifts.

Poultry Night 2007 – The Finale

What initially began as an idea for Farm-City Week turned into a 20-year run of a very successful event for the Sumter community. But, as time goes by, things change, and Poultry Night will come to a conclusion with this year's event on Thursday, November 8, 2007 at 6:30 p.m. at the Sumter County Exhibition Center.

Delicious poultry dishes, recipes, fellowship, crafts, exhibits, and thanksgiving for our many blessings - that's what Poultry Night is all about! Sponsored by Sumter's Chamber of Commerce, the agribusiness community and Clemson Extension Service, Poultry Night is a big educational and social event for more than 800 participants. Poultry Night also provides an opportunity to recognize the importance of the poultry industry to the multi-county area.

Private Applicators Pesticide License training

The Clemson Extension Service will offer Private Applicators Pesticide License training on Wednesday, November 14, 2007, 9:00 am - 4:30 pm. Registration fee is $60.00 and will include lunch and breaks. Pre-registration is required and needs to be received by Monday November 12, 2007. The training will be held at the Clemson Extension Service, 605 West Main St., Ste. 109, Lexington, S.C. 29072

More and more we are seeing crop protection products or pesticide being classified as "Restricted Use Products" (RUPS's). To purchase and apply "Restricted Use Products" requires a Pesticide Applicators License. This training is for those who do not currently have a license and need to purchase restricted use products for use on their own property.

This training is not for Commercial Applicators.

For more information call John Oxner, County Extension Agent, Lexington Extension office at 803-359-8515, ext. 111.

Christmas Tree Direct Marketers

The Market Bulletin will compile a Christmas Tree Direct Marketers list for the November 15 issue. Christmas tree marketers who would like to be included, should submit the following: county, business name, owner's name, address, type of trees, duration of operation, hours of operation, brief directions, and phone number.

South Carolina Christmas Tree Association members will automatically be listed separately.

Mail to: Christmas Trees, PO Box 11280, Columbia, SC 29211, fax number 803-734-0659 or e-mail the information to marketbulletin@scda.sc.gov.

Deadline for entries for the Christmas Tree Direct Marketers list is noon November 6, 2007.

Agriculture Counts!

We have had plenty of instructions about counting. Don't count chickens before they hatch. According to Kenny Rogers, never count your money while you're still at the table. We all should count one by one when it comes to our blessings. You're going to get some instructions on counting in this Bulletin, namely in helping the statistics folks count up what we do in agriculture in South Carolina.

Counting farms in the Census of Agriculture has been conducted approximately every five years by the USDA since 1920. It's required by law that the NASS people (National Agriculture Statistic Service) conduct the Census of Agriculture. The census is the only source of uniform, comprehensive data on agriculture for each county, state and the nation.

The poultry industry in Sumter County is as diversified as in any area of the United States. Broilers, turkeys, squab, and quail contribute millions of dollars per year to the local economy and more than 3000 jobs for the county. Poultry production accounts for nearly 70 percent of all agricultural cash receipts for Sumter farmers. The county ranks fourth among the 46 counties in turkey production and fifth in broiler production.

Poultry is also an important part of the agricultural economy of Sumter’s neighboring counties. Kershaw County ranks second in the state in egg production and first in turkey production. Lee County ranks fifth in turkey production. Broiler production is also an important part of the economies of Clarendon and Lee counties.

This is a great way to entertain business associates and friends.

Tickets are available for $18 each from the Sumter Chamber of Commerce and from Clemson Extension Service in Sumter for this final event.

For more information about Poultry Night, contact: H. Gregory Harvey, Clemson Extension Service, 115 N. Harvin Street, 5th Floor, Sumter, SC. 29150-4956, 803-773-5561.

Agriculture Counts!

CENSUS OF AGRICULTURE
YOUR VOICE. YOUR FUTURE. YOUR RESPONSIBILITY.

The 26th Census of Agriculture questionnaires to collect data for the 2007 calendar year should be in the hands of agricultural producers by January 10, 2008. You'll have about a month to complete it. Hopefully, it will be a good rainy day job. Completed reports will be due by February 4, 2008.

All farms which produced or normally would be expected to produce agricultural products valued at $1,000 or more during the 2007 calendar year will receive census questionnaires. As you should know, that's not very much on today's farms-large or small. The forms will request information on the amount of land in farms, land use practices, operator characteristics, sales, expenditures, machinery and equipment, livestock, poultry, dairy production and crops harvested.

Title 7 of the U.S. Code that requires farmers and ranchers to report in the census also protects the privacy of their information. Only employees sworn to confidentiality under a penalty of law may see report forms. No one else can obtain individual reports. The information is used for statistical purposes, and only summary information is published. Even the summary is a tremendous volume of information. The South Carolina director of NASS, Rhonda Brandt, totes that big book with her to any meeting where people want to know farming statistics in our state.

If you produce or sell agricultural products, I encourage you to complete a census report. South Carolina's farmers can have a positive impact on U.S. agriculture at both the local and national levels, influencing economic development and impacting local and national decision-making.

For instance, the South Carolina Department of Agriculture and USDA's Risk Management Agency (RMA) recently worked together to develop an insurance program that covers all agricultural products grown in all South Carolina counties. We knew which commodities were grown in which counties from the responses to the 2002 Census of Agriculture.

In 2005 and 2006, South Carolina served as a test pilot for USDA's Small Farmer Program. This program targets monetary and technical expertise to small farmers to help them build and make their operations successful. The 2007 Farm Bill will implement this program nationwide. In order for the federal government to decide on the amount of funding to send each state for programs like this, they will look at the 2007 Census of Agriculture data for age, gender, race, economic class, and number of farms.

Producers use the information as well. Timely and accurate information helps in planning marketing strategies for a successful future, and the five-year Census of Agriculture gives us a good road map to formulate those plans.

Again, if you farm in South Carolina, complete the census form and return it promptly to the appropriate address by February 4, 2008. South Carolina's economic health and vitality depend on your participation and cooperation.

While we in the Palmetto State are counting our agricultural assets in this Census of Agriculture, we can also count our blessings for an abundant, reliable supply of agricultural products. Because you are counted, others can count on you. Hopefully, we can count on the blessings of some much needed rainfall pretty soon as well.

For more information about the Census of Agriculture or if you are involved in agriculture and did not receive a report form by January 10, 2008, you can call toll-free 888-424-7828 or visit www.agcensus.usda.gov.

Spartanburg Christian Academy student wins cabbage contest

Erica Boyd was all smiles Monday, October 22, 2007 while she was surrounded by schoolmates from Spartanburg Christian Academy. The nine-year-old fourth grader was honored by South Carolina's Agriculture Commissioner Hugh Weathers and Joe Rotton of Bonnie Plants for the 20-pound cabbage she grew in her parent's garden.

Erica won the Bonnie Plants Third Grade Cabbage Program for South Carolina. Erica's class received the complimentary Bonnie cabbages this past spring, and according to her family Erica tended to her cabbage each week. It was moved from a container to her family's garden March 27. When the cabbage was harvested on June 25, it weighed more than 20 pounds. Erica's father, Mark, said the cabbage was never measured, but it was larger than her 48-inch arm span.

Before recognizing Erica, Commissioner Weathers spoke to the assembled children about farming and where food comes from. He asked the kids where the food they eat comes from and was delighted they knew that food comes from farms. The students also asked Commissioner Weathers about his dairy farm in Orangeburg County.

"I'm very pleased with this program," said Commissioner Weathers after the presentation. "I commend Bonnie Plants for what they are doing to help the students understand the origin of their food."

This is the sixth year Spartanburg Christian Academy has participated in the program, and Erica is the school's first winner. In addition to a framed certificate from Commissioner Weathers, Erica will also receive $1,000 savings bond from Bonnie Plants.

Six years ago Bonnie Plants began offering a free cabbage plant to third graders to promote gardening with children in schools. Today, the program has expanded into several states and in 2006 Bonnie Plants gave out $40,000 in Savings Bonds. In 2007, Bonnie Plants delivered more than one million plants to third graders.

Crop Disaster Program Sign-Up for Quantity Losses Begins

USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Teresa Lasseter announced that eligible farmers who suffered quantity losses to their crops in recent years can enroll in the Crop Disaster Program 2005-2007 (CDP) at local FSA service centers. FSA will announce and conduct sign-up for quality losses under CDP as soon as possible.

"Certain crop producers suffered major financial losses as the result of floods, tornados and other natural disasters during the last couple of years," said Lasseter. "This program will help many American farmers to maintain viable businesses so consumers at home and abroad have the food and fiber they need to survive."

Subject to final rules for the program, CDP provides benefits to farmers who suffered losses to the 2005-2007 crops from natural disasters and related conditions so long as the actual crop lost was planted or prevented from being planted before Feb. 28, 2007. Producers who incurred qualifying losses in 2005, 2006 or 2007 must choose only one year to receive benefits. Producers may apply for benefits for losses to multiple crops as long as the losses occurred in the same crop year.

Only producers who obtained crop insurance coverage or coverage under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) for the year of loss will be eligible for CDP benefits. Producers must have suffered quantity losses in excess of 35 percent to be eligible for CDP. The payment rate is set at 42 percent of the established price. Assistance, together with any crop insurance or NAP payment received for the same crop and including the value of the crop production not lost, must not exceed 95 percent of the total value of the crop absent the disaster.

FSA offices may accept information from producers about quality losses when producers submit applications for quantity losses. However, FSA will only consider quality loss applications complete after FSA announces the quality loss sign-up date and all other information necessary to determine eligibility is received by FSA. Also, FSA will not consider applications completed for any loss, including quantity losses, until a final rule has been issued for this program.

The U.S. Troop Readiness, Veterans' Care, Katrina Recovery, and Iraq Accountability Appropriations Act, 2007, signed into law on May 25, 2007, by President Bush, authorizes CDP.
